PROFILE

I possess a strong understanding of HTML, CSS, JavaScript, React, VueJS, and TailwindCSS, all of which I have acquired through self-study. I am dedicated to researching and mastering these languages, and I continually strive to incorporate them as part of my skill set. By engaging in volunteer projects, I have gained practical experience that has further developed my expertise and abilities.

Having had the opportunity to work on several volunteer projects, I am now highly enthusiastic about showcasing my skills in a real-world project that is not too distant from reality. This would provide an avenue for me to expand my knowledge and skills in an environment where I can actively apply my expertise. Collaboration is essential to me, as it allows me to gain experience and learn from different perspectives.
